

Education unlocks skills and employment

- Lesson Slideshow for Educators
- For ages 11-16

Activity – What skills are important?

What skills might be important...

...for helping you
to get on with others?

...at home or in other parts of your life?

...at school?

...for our world
in the future?

...for your life
in the future?

Most important

Least
important

SUSTAINABLE DEVELOPMENT GOALS

Activity – My skills audit

My skills audit

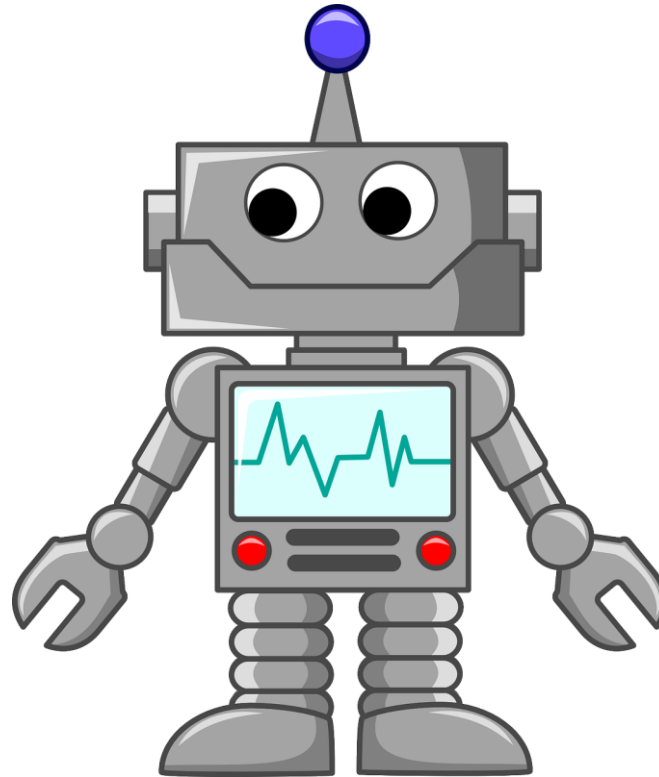

Skill	Rating ←————→ 1 5	When I demonstrated this skill	Action I could take to improve this skill

Activity – Taking part in the digital world

How old will you be in 2030?

What might you
be doing in 2030?

Many jobs are changing because of automation
– using technology to do things that people
used to do before.

Types of digital skills

using suitable
security tools to protect data

finding, creating and sharing content
online

being safe
online

marketing
products and services

coding

spotting
'fake' news

communication

analysing
data

How do you use digital skills in your life?

Girls are five times less likely to consider a career in tech than boys.

Disabled adults make up a large percentage of those not using the internet in the UK.

Only 7% of those aged over 70 in the UK are likely to have the necessary skills to shop and manage their money online.

In the least developed countries, only 6% of households have internet access at home.

Setting up code clubs

Activity – Sharing skills across our communities

Where did you learn this skill?

Who or what helped you to learn it?

What might make it difficult to learn a new skill?

Skills Friendly Cities

Theirworld has been working with a group of businesses called the Global Business Coalition for Education to develop Skills Friendly Cities that support young people to develop the skills they need for the work and life in the future.

Who is in your community?

What groups do you belong to?

What opportunities for skill sharing are there
in your community?

Planning your skill-sharing activity:

- What skill are you going to teach?
- What do you want people to learn?
- What equipment will you need?
- How will you make your activity fun and engaging?

Theirworld